

SING SING SCANDAL UP TO PRISON BOARD

Diedling and Hurd Reports
Come Before State Commission To-day.

GRAND JURY STILL BUSY

ALBANY, Nov. 3.—The State Prison Commission will meet to-day to receive the report of the grand jury on the Sing Sing scandal. The commission will accept the report, but it is not known whether it will accept the report or not. The grand jury's report is expected to be a severe one. The commission will also receive the report of the grand jury on the diedling and Hurd reports. The commission will also receive the report of the grand jury on the diedling and Hurd reports. The commission will also receive the report of the grand jury on the diedling and Hurd reports.

There are seven State prison commissioners, leaving the adoption or rejection of the diedling and Hurd reports in the hands of five members. The commission has no power under the law to initiate a movement for the suppression of the vice alleged to exist in the Sing Sing institution. Practically all it can do after adopting the diedling report or the findings of the grand jury is to make a report to the governor and the State Superintendent of Prisons.

OSBORNE IN PRISON FILMS.

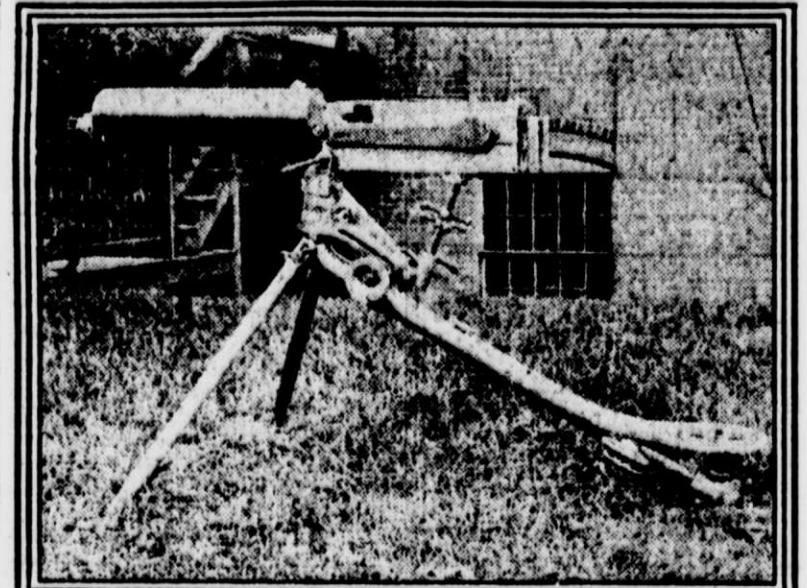

Immature Pose for Pictures Based on the Warden's Book.
A motion picture designed to illustrate New York State's prison system will shortly be produced by the Joint Committee on Prison Reform. Two-thirds of the cost of production was raised by the inmates of Auburn prison and 95 percent of the prisoners volunteered their services to help show the changes that have been brought about. The picture is called "Within Prison Walls" and the scenario is modeled after Thomas Mott Osborne's book of the same name. Among other things it shows the present head of Sing Sing when he was a volunteer. The picture will be shown at the Lyric Theatre on November 15.

ONE MAN DYING IN CAR RIOT AT WILKESBARRE

First Attempt in Two Weeks to Run Street Railway Ends Disastrously.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 3.—Riot marked the first attempt today of the Wilkes-Barre Railway company to operate cars since a strike was called by its men three weeks ago. As a result, one strike breaker, John Stahlman, of New York, is dying in a local hospital and William Endig, also of New York, is in a critical condition with a fractured skull. A score of other strike breakers were treated for cuts and bruises. Every car put in operation today was badly damaged and in some instances were wholly wrecked by sympathizers of the strikers. The worst trouble occurred in Public Square, the heart of the business section. After an attack upon a car at this point, Mayor John V. Kosek stepped into the street and appealed for order. He was driven back into his office by a shower of missiles. The rioters proceeded to the Wood street barn, where the strike breakers' quarters are located, and there attacked Stahlman and Endig. Both were unconscious when police reserves arrived in automobiles and rescued them. In the meantime very window in the barn had been broken.

RUSSIAN ARMY TO USE MAXIM'S NEWEST GUNS

The new automatic Maxim gun.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 3.—According to an arrangement made today with Chief Smith of the police department, the Maxim Munitions Company, which recently started manufacturing war munitions here, will on Friday of this week try out a new automatic Maxim gun which fires 500 shots a minute. Edward R. Becker, the vice-president and general manager of the company, and Joseph Swenson, who is also connected with the company, arrived here today from New York and called on Mayor Rice to make arrangements for the trial. High sand banks have been built back of the company's plant as a testing machine gun there will be no danger of injuries to any one. This first gun was made at the plant of the former Fuller Manufacturing Company, which has been taken over by the new company for the manufacture of guns. This is the fourth concern in New Haven at present manufacturing firearms. They include besides the new concern the Winchester Repeating Arms Company, the Avis Company and the

DANIELS ECONOMIZES IN LITTLE NAVY TRIAL

Court-martial of Admiral Unable to Call Witnesses Because of Expense.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Economy appears to be Secretary Daniels' watchword in connection with the court-martial of Rear Admiral Little over the submarine K-2. This fact came out today when the prosecution rested its case and Admiral Little began his defense. The matter of asking an opinion from the solicitor-general of the Navy Department as to the liability of the Electric Boat Company under the contract brought out a statement by Judge Advocate Johnson that he would be obliged to send the request to Washington by mail, as he had been cautioned to keep down expenses, such as telegraphing. "I have been unable to call certain witnesses in this case," said the Judge Advocate, "because of the expense." The defense has had the same trouble. Interposed counsel for the defense. Warren G. Child, witness for the prosecution, again testified today about the existence in writing of the agreement made by the boat company to make good any defects in workmanship. Witness said he "had every reason to believe" the agreement was reduced to writing. He thought it was on pink paper, but he did not know where it was filed at the Fore River offices or not. He had not seen a copy of the agreement since the present investigation. Lieut. Radford Moses, for the defense, admitted that the form of battery received he had called Admiral Little's attention to did not develop and that the batteries ran perfectly for seventeen months after the boat's preliminary acceptance. He denied he received orders from the accused to conceal the fact that lead drops had been found in the cells. Lieut. Moses admitted expressing an opinion that Admiral Little was responsible for the poor workmanship in the batteries.

SING SING FUGITIVE CAUGHT IN STREET CAR

Kid Yates, Who Helped Rob
Aaron Bancroft of $85,000,
Held in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 3.—Twenty- or Kid Yates, under sentence of twenty-one years for an $85,000 robbery in New York, who escaped from Sing Sing prison on December 18, 1912, is held in the parish prison here to await the arrival of New York officers. Yates was arrested on Sunday when he was found in a crowded street car. He gave his name as Charles A. Stone, but confessed his identity when his photograph in the Boston Herald of police headquarters was shown to him. He refused to tell how he escaped from Sing Sing or when he passed the time until ten months ago, when he came to this city. Aaron Bancroft, a banker, walked through the dusky corridor of the Exchange building, an envelope containing stock certificates worth $85,000 under his arm, on the afternoon of March 2, 1911. Suddenly, a stunted, dark-skinned man, who was dressed in a suit and tie, dropped the envelope, a second stranger substituting another filled with waste paper. Yates, it developed, was the man who tripped Mr. Bancroft. The robbery was not discovered until four days later, when Mr. Bancroft reported his case to the police. Yates, while still in custody, was taken to the police station and the case was assigned to the court of General Sessions. He disappeared from Sing Sing after serving only 165 days, supposedly by climbing a high iron pocket fence and dropping into the river. Besides the twenty-one year sentence Yates had one year and five months to serve, this commencing immediately, awarded when he was serving a term of four years and nine months for taking more than $6,000 worth of jewelry from an apartment in the Hotel Cumberland in 1907.

ASKS $100 A WEEK OF HUSBAND'S $250

Wife of C. M. Haley, Deserted, Charges That She Has Had to Live on Charity.

SUES FOR A SEPARATION

An application for $100 a week alimony and $2,000 counsel fee was made in the Supreme Court yesterday by Mrs. Marion S. Haley in a suit against Charles Morton Haley, pending a suit for separation on the ground that Haley abandoned her on November 9, 1914, when they were living at the Hillmore Hotel. Haley is the son of Mrs. Kathryn L. H. Motley of 375 Park avenue. Mrs. Motley's husband is Thornton L. Motley, head of a railway supply concern at 79 East Forty-fifth street. She was sued recently by her daughter-in-law for $50,000 damages for alienating Haley's affections. Haley married the plaintiff on January 22, 1912. He was involved in a previous marriage in 1908, when he was only 19 years old. At that time he married Marie Honore French, daughter of the late Gen. James W. French and sister of Capt. John L. French, U. S. A. Mrs. Motley then took her son home and had the marriage annulled. Mrs. Haley alleges that on November 9, 1914, her husband told her that he was going to Scotland on business for his stepfather and asked her to pack his trunk. He refused to explain the trip to her and she decided to dine with her just before he left. The plaintiff says that instead of going to Scotland her husband went on an automobile trip to Washington, where his mother had a house. Mrs. Haley has not talked with her husband since, and the only time that she has seen him was on October 15 last, when she met him face to face on a Lexington avenue trolley car. He refused to recognize her, she said. Mrs. Haley stated that the day after her husband left she was notified by the management of the Hillmore Hotel that she must leave because the apartment had been given up. After their marriage her husband spent about $100 a week, Mrs. Haley avers, and gave her $50 a week for wearing apparel. She says she received $15 a week after her husband left her, but that in May last the alimony was stopped. Mrs. Haley says her husband has an income of $250 a week from his grandfather's estate, which she is desirous of seeing. She said: "At present I am informed that the defendant is spending large sums on pleasures of all sorts, whereas I am living on the charity of my friends."

MRS. KEHOE WANTS HER SUIT HURRIED UP

Court Says Her Delay in Seeking to Annul Divorce Is Vital Issue.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 3.—While Justice Joseph Morschauer of the Supreme Court was continuing his investigation this afternoon into the charge of Mrs. Dorothy M. Kehoe that there was collusion between her lawyer and her husband, Charles P. Kehoe, when she secured a divorce from him in 1910 and which she now seeks to set aside, Mrs. Kehoe, recently informed her attorney and asked him to hurry up. Once she jumped to her feet and poking her lawyer in the back said: "I want you to hurry up and get this suit out of here." Mrs. Kehoe, who inherited $500,000 a few years ago, now claims she is penniless and alleges Kehoe got considerable of her money. He married a short time after his first wife secured the decree and through his lawyer, Judge Frank L. Kane of White Plains says the plaintiff has been harassing him ever since by her demands for money. He offered in evidence thirty-five letters he received after his wife secured the divorce. "Why didn't you destroy the letters?" Mrs. Kehoe's lawyer asked. "I knew I was dealing with a very dangerous woman," Kehoe snapped, "and that is the reason I kept them." "Oh! Oh! Oh!" moaned Mrs. Kehoe. Mrs. Kehoe in her motion to set aside the divorce asked her husband to ride with her in her automobile on the day the decree was granted until within two blocks of the court house and then walked the remainder of the way. "Did you go with your wife to court?" Judge Morschauer asked Kehoe. "I did not," he replied. "The discharged chauffeur carried her to Mrs. Kehoe. When I discovered what he was doing I threw his clothes out of the window." At the conclusion of the testimony Judge Morschauer directed that briefs be submitted on the question as to whether Mrs. Kehoe in waiting five years to seek to set aside the decree was not guilty of laches. "This man is married again," said Judge Morschauer, "and what I desire to know is whether this woman in waiting until two children are born is not guilty of laches." "Assuming that all is true, and I justify in setting aside the decree, when the woman is one of the conspirators?" Judge Morschauer asked. "I desire you to discuss in your briefs."

Boys Save Holbrook School.

OSKINS, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Seventy-five boys pupils of the Holbrook School in Benning saved the schoolhouse and dormitory from destruction today by fighting a fire which destroyed Dr. Dwight Holbrook's cottage, attached to the main brick school building.

LOSS OF WIFE LAID TO DANCING

Detective Asks $25,000 of Another Woman for Luring Helpmate.
George F. Bernhart, who conducted a private detective agency at 136 17th avenue, filed suit in the Supreme Court yesterday to recover $25,000 damages from Mrs. Mary Rose Donoherty, a wealthy young widow, on the ground that after she became a boarder at the home of the Bernharts she caused Mrs. Bernhart to lose her affection for the plaintiff by persuading her that she would be happier away from him. Bernhart, who lives at Murray Hill, N. Y., says he has been married to Florence E. Bernhart for three years and that the defendant injured his wife by becoming interested in dancing and to visit night palaces with her. Bernhart says he has no idea where his wife is now.

The more difficult it becomes to get good furs (because the raw skins have always been mostly prepared in Europe) the more the ladies are wearing them in every way furs were ever worn and in some ways no man ever saw furs used before.

Result, some furs are practically out of the market and the wholesalers generally are making substantial advances on whatever furs they can get.

Fortunately, we provided a liberal stock of fur outside coats, fur lined coats, fur gloves and caps, bought them all months ago. Our prices to-day are based on what we paid last Summer and in view of to-day's wholesale prices represent unusual values.

Warm woolen overcoats—a wonderful variety for men and boys—all sizes from 2½ years to 54 chest.

WEDDING GOWN WORRY OF SUFFRAGE BRIDE

Miss Alberta Hill Not Concerned To-day With Election
Figures or the Cause.

When Miss Alberta Hill, executive secretary of the Women's Political Union and loyal worker for the cause of woman suffrage ever since her seventeenth birthday, heard yesterday morning that the amendment was defeated her only concern was: "Dear me! That's too bad. But will some one please tell me why the dressmaker doesn't send my wedding dress?" Miss Hill may be called the election bride, for her marriage to Frank Smith of Washington, private secretary of Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, which takes place today in the parlor of the rectory of the Augustinian Church, Tompkinsville, was delayed exactly that she might finish the night. Her last public appearance was as leader of the cavalcade in the suffrage parade October 23, but she remained at her desk till yesterday. Miss Hill was born in Australia and

NO THAW CASH FOR GLEASON

Lawyer's Suit Against Singer's Mother Thrown Out.

Attorney John B. Gleason's third attempt to recover the full amount of his fee for defending Harry Thaw at the latter's first trial for the murder of Stanford White came to an unsuccessful close yesterday when Judge Julius M. Mayer of the United States District Court threw out the lawyer's suit against Mrs. Mary Copple Thaw for $25,000. Gleason contended that Mrs. Thaw gave him the impression that her share in the estate of his father would be sufficient to pay counsel fees. Mrs. Thaw, Gleason said, gave him no indication of the "spendthrift clause" in the will which tied up Harry's income and allowed him $2,500 for spending money. Judge Mayer, however, ruled that Mrs. Thaw had made no misleading statements to induce Gleason to continue her son's defense. Mrs. Thaw and her husband were in court to hear the decision. Gleason got $27,000 of the Thaw money and when the other $50,000 was not forthcoming sued Harry Thaw for breach of contract. The suit was thrown out by Judge Mayer and his decision was sustained by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Then Mrs. Gleason brought a suit against Mrs. Thaw.

Skating Season "Arrives"

THE vogue for skating is heralded this winter as becoming even more popular than dancing. Never before in America have we anticipated this sport as a social accomplishment, though Canada and half of Europe have always included it as an important winter diversion. The big public rinks are on the eve of opening, and it is said that some of New York's most prominent hotels are installing rinks where will be worn fashionable costumes especially designed for the purpose. The following list contains garments appropriate for skating:

Women's Suits
